What is the "Reaching Out" Breast Health Program?

"Reaching Out" is committed to ensuring that all women in Delaware County have access to vital breast health services. Women receive breast health information, free clinical breast exams and free mammogram referrals if they qualify.

"Reaching Out" has been a part of Delaware County for 8 years and has been able to reach over 1,800 women with free clinical breast exams, mammogram services and education.

"Raising Awareness, Saving Lives" is an opportunity to raise awareness of breast cancer. Our focus is to educate women about the importance of reducing risk factors, early detection and celebrating survival of breast cancer. New this year is the 5K Run & Walk.

"Reaching Out" is a collaborative effort of Cancer Services of ECI-Little Red Door, Indiana Breast & Cervical Cancer Program, Ball Memorial Hospital Breast Health Center, Ball Memorial Hospital Family Medicine Residency Center, The Cancer Center at Ball Memorial Hospital, Open Door Services and The Health Coalition of Delaware County.
